CITING is important because it gives credit to the people and sources that we use in our writing. It also helps us avoid plagiarism.

From a Website:

Name (Last, First). "Title of Article or Story" D/M/Y of Article. Web. Website, Smith, Kevin. "The Negative Effects of Facebook" Social.com, 29 June 2012. Web.

You Try: Please make up a writer, article title, website, date, and, write "Web" at the end.

From a Book:

Published. Company, Print. Place Published: Name (Last. First). Book Title. Wilson, Henry. The History of UFOs. New York: Scholastic, Print.

You Try: Please make up a writer, book title, place published, pub. company, date, and write "Print" at the end.

From a Magazine:

Published: Name (Last, First). "Title of Article or Story" Magazine Title Pages, Print. Robson, Tina. "Best Games of the Year." Gaming Weekly Oct. 2008:

You Try: Please make up a writer, article title, magazine title, publishing date, pages, and write "Print" at the end.

Encyclopedia: Citing an encyclopedia is exactly the same as a book except that you write "Name of the Article" in front of the "Book/Encyclopedia Title"

Take a look at your examples. Look for the commas, periods, colons, and quotation marks that were used in the examples. Did you put them in the same places too?

Do this: Please write down what is missing fr	rom each of these citations
Example: Wilson, Henry New Y	New York: Scholastic, 2009. Print.
What's Missing? The book title.
